

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON THE HISTORY OF THE SOUTH PACIFIC ISLANDS

The International Conference on the History of the South Pacific Islands is a biennial conference organized by the International Council for the History of the Pacific Islands (ICHI). The conference is held in a different South Pacific Island country each year. The conference provides a forum for scholars and students to discuss the history of the South Pacific Islands and to share their research. The conference is held in a different South Pacific Island country each year. The conference provides a forum for scholars and students to discuss the history of the South Pacific Islands and to share their research.

The conference is held in a different South Pacific Island country each year. The conference provides a forum for scholars and students to discuss the history of the South Pacific Islands and to share their research. The conference is held in a different South Pacific Island country each year. The conference provides a forum for scholars and students to discuss the history of the South Pacific Islands and to share their research.

The conference is held in a different South Pacific Island country each year. The conference provides a forum for scholars and students to discuss the history of the South Pacific Islands and to share their research. The conference is held in a different South Pacific Island country each year. The conference provides a forum for scholars and students to discuss the history of the South Pacific Islands and to share their research.

The conference is held in a different South Pacific Island country each year. The conference provides a forum for scholars and students to discuss the history of the South Pacific Islands and to share their research. The conference is held in a different South Pacific Island country each year. The conference provides a forum for scholars and students to discuss the history of the South Pacific Islands and to share their research.

