

The diagram illustrates the concept of place value using boxes. It consists of three rows:

- Row 1: Shows the digits 0 through 9, each represented by a single box.
- Row 2: Shows the numbers 10 through 19, each represented by two adjacent boxes.
- Row 3: Shows the numbers 100 through 109, each represented by three adjacent boxes.

00000000 00000000 0000000000 000000 0000000000 00000000 000000
 0000000 0000000 000000 0000000000 0000 00000000000 0000000000
 0000000000 0000000 00000000000 000000 0000000 0000000 0 0000000 000000
 00000000 000000000 000000000000 000000000

0000000000 00000 000000 000000000 00000000 0000000000 00000
 0000000000 00000000 00000 000000 000000 00000 0000 0000000000
 000000000 000000000 0000

0000 00 00 0000 0 00 00000000 0000000 0000 000000 000 000
 0000000000 0000 000 00 0000000 000000 000 00 0000 0000 0000000
 0000000000 0000000 000 000: 000000 0000000 0000 0000000 0000 000
 0000 0000 000000 00000000 000 0000000 000000000000000000 0000000 000000
 0000000 0000000 000000000 000 0000000

000000 0000000 000 000000 00000 00000 000000 0000 000 0000
 0000 00000 0000000 000 000000 0000000000000000 0000 000 000
 000000 0000 0000000 000 0000, 000 0000000000000000 00000000
 000000 00000 0000000 0000000 00000 000000 00 000000

[illegible]

000000 00000000 000 0000000000 00000 0000 00000 000000 0000 00
 0000 0000 00000 00000000 000 000000 0000000000000000 00000000
 0000000 0000000 0000 0000000 0000 000 0000 0 000 00000000000000
 000000000 00000000 000000 00000000000 0000000 0000 00000000 00 00000
 00-000000000 000 000000000 000 00 0000000 0000 000 0000 0000 00000 000000000 000 0000000 0000000000000000000 000000 000 000000 0000000 0000

