

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON THE EFFECTS OF GLOBALIZATION ON CULTURAL DIVERSITY

The International Conference on the Effects of Globalization on Cultural Diversity was held in Geneva, Switzerland, from 10 to 15 October 2001. The conference was organized by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) in cooperation with the Government of Switzerland. The main theme of the conference was the impact of globalization on cultural diversity and the role of culture in development.

The conference was attended by representatives from 120 countries, including heads of state, government ministers, and experts in the field of culture. The conference was divided into three main sessions: the opening session, the main session, and the closing session. The opening session was held on 10 October 2001 and was presided over by the Director-General of UNESCO, Koichiro Matsuura. The main session was held on 11 and 12 October 2001 and was divided into three parallel sessions. The closing session was held on 15 October 2001 and was presided over by the Director-General of UNESCO.

The conference was a landmark event in the history of UNESCO and the world. It was the first time that a conference of this kind had been held. The conference was a success and it was a landmark event in the history of UNESCO and the world. It was the first time that a conference of this kind had been held. The conference was a success and it was a landmark event in the history of UNESCO and the world.

The conference was a landmark event in the history of UNESCO and the world. It was the first time that a conference of this kind had been held. The conference was a success and it was a landmark event in the history of UNESCO and the world. It was the first time that a conference of this kind had been held. The conference was a success and it was a landmark event in the history of UNESCO and the world.

The conference was a landmark event in the history of UNESCO and the world. It was the first time that a conference of this kind had been held. The conference was a success and it was a landmark event in the history of UNESCO and the world. It was the first time that a conference of this kind had been held. The conference was a success and it was a landmark event in the history of UNESCO and the world.

The conference was a landmark event in the history of UNESCO and the world. It was the first time that a conference of this kind had been held. The conference was a success and it was a landmark event in the history of UNESCO and the world. It was the first time that a conference of this kind had been held. The conference was a success and it was a landmark event in the history of UNESCO and the world.

