

The diagram illustrates the number 100 as a collection of four groups of 25. Each group is represented by a row of 100 small squares, arranged in a 4x25 grid. The squares are organized into four distinct groups, each containing 25 squares, totaling 100 squares.

0000000000 00000000 0000000 0000000 000000 00000 0000 000000
 000000 00000 (00) 00000 000000 00000 00000 00000 000000
 0000000000 00000000 00000000 0000000 000 0000 00 00000 0000
 00000000 00000000 00000 0 000000 000000 000000000 0000000 000 000

00 000000 00000 000000 0000 0000000000 00000000 0000 0 00000
 00 0000000 0000000 000000 0000000000 00000 000 000000
 0000000000 00 000 0000 0000 000000 00000 000 0000000000
 0000000000 00000000 00000000 0000000 000000 0000000 00000000 00000000

000000 000000 0000 0000, 0000 0000 0 000000 000 00000000 0000
 00 0000 00000 00000000 000 000 00000 00000 00000 000000
 00000000 00000000 0000000 0000 00000000000 0000000 000 0000 000
 00000000 0000000 00000000 0000000 000 00000000000 000 00000000000
 0000 00000000000 00000000 0000 000 0000000 000000 0000000 0000000 000
 000000 0: 0000 0000 000 00 000 000000 000000 00000000 00000000
 000000 000 0000000000000 000000000000 00000 000000 000000 000000 000000

00000000 0000 000000 0000 000 000 0 000000 00000000 00000 000000
 000000 000 000000 00000000 0000000000 00000 0000 000000 0000000000
 0000000000 0000000000 000000 00-000000000 000000 0000 000 00 0000
 000000 00 0000 0000000000 000000 0000 00 0000000 00 000 000
 00000000 0000000000 000000000000000000 000000 000000 000000 000
 00000000 00000000 00000000 000000