

The diagram illustrates a hierarchical or segmented structure across three levels:

- Row 1: Consists of two identical segments, each containing six adjacent rectangular boxes.
- Row 2: Consists of three identical segments, each containing four adjacent rectangular boxes.
- Row 3: Consists of a single segment containing six adjacent rectangular boxes.

The boxes are arranged such that they appear to be aligned vertically, suggesting a mapping or relationship between the different levels of segmentation.

000 000000-000000 0000 0000 000000 0000 000000 0000 00000000 0000 0000 00000000 0000 0000000 000000 0000

[illegible]

0000000000 00000000 0000 000 000000 0000 00 000 000000 000 0000000-
 0000000 0 00000000 000000 000000 000000000-0 000000 0000 000000 0
 00000000000 000000000000000 000000 0000000 00 000000000000 0000000 0000 000000000000 00000000000 0000 000000000000 0000000 00000000 0000
 0000000000 000 000000 000000000000 00000000000 00000000 0000000000 0
 000000000000 0000000000 000 000000000 000000 0000 0000 000000 0000
 0000000000 0000 000000000 0000000 00000000 0000 00000000 000000000
 000000 0000000000 0000000000000 000 000 000000000 0000 000 000000 0000
 000000 00000000 000000000 0000000 000000000 00000000 000000000000

0 00000 00000 000000 000000 000000 0000000 0000 0000000 000000
 000 0000000 00000000 0000000 00000 000000000

[illegible]

000000 000000 0000- 0000 0000 0000 000000 000000 000 0000 000000
 000000 0000000000 000000 000000