The diagram illustrates a subtraction problem using a base-10 block representation. At the top, there are four groups of four rectangles each. The first group has a single rectangle at the bottom. The second group has two rectangles at the bottom. The third group has three rectangles at the bottom. The fourth group has four rectangles at the bottom. A minus sign is placed between the first and second groups. To the right of the minus sign, there is a single rectangle at the bottom. Below the first group, there is a horizontal line with arrows pointing to the left and right, indicating the result of the subtraction.
